

Language and General Communications

Papers and posters may be presented at conferences in either English or French. Translation is not guaranteed but may be provided if the local organizing committee can obtain funding to do so. The bulk of business will be conducted in English with translation to and from French provided by bilingual members as needed. Most communications and advertising shall occur by e-mail using lists of attendees from recent conferences and the "EpiVet" list server.