

Organization and Objectives

The Canadian Association of Veterinary Epidemiology and Preventive Medicine (CAVEPM), l'Association Canadienne en Épidémiologie et Médecine Préventive Vétérinaire (ACEMPV), is a not-for-profit association that encourages training, research and exchange of information among interested parties in the scientific fields of veterinary epidemiology, preventive veterinary medicine and directly related fields such as the economics of disease and its management in populations of animals, including the epidemiology of zoonotic diseases affecting animals and people.