Canadian Association
Veterinary Epidemiology and Preventive Medicine
Annual Conference

Surveillance: From the “epi”-center of data gathering to “epic” dissemination.

June 2-3, 2020

Western College of Veterinary Medicine, 52 Campus Drive,
Saskatoon, Saskatchewan, Canada

*“I have confidence, however, in the stimulating challenge of facts.”
Edgar Sydenstricker. 1931.*

In the face of emerging diseases, outbreaks of known diseases, and projected causal relationships, the story of who, what, when, and where is often told first without data. Surveillance data provides the evidence base needed to inform action.

2 Workshops:

June 1, 2020 – Fundamentals of Surveillance.

June 4 -6, 2020. Supercharging Surveillance. Collection through Communication. Details to follow.

Submissions for oral presentations and posters will be considered. In particular, student research through posters and/or oral presentations will be showcased.

More details will be available shortly at: <https://wcv.m.usask.ca/education/cavepm.php> including the call for abstracts and other updates.

Inquiries can be sent to the Planning Committee: cavepm2020@usask.ca
