

Handbook: Honours Program in History (Updated January 2020)

1. The Program

- 1.1 The Honours program in History is designed to provide a limited number of qualified students with the opportunity to engage in advanced undergraduate work which will prepare them for graduated studies in History, or professional studies such as law, policy and administration. Some students opt to undertake the Honours program because it will give them an advantage when on the job market after they have finished their History degree. The program leads to the BA (Hon) degree. Students contemplating graduate studies should seriously consider the Honours program, as this is the preparation normally required for admission to many graduate programs.
- 1.2 Because the Honours program has a number of course and entry requirements beyond those of the major, students thinking about entering the program should consult with the Chair of the History Department or the Honours Coordinator as early as possible in their university studies.

1.3 Application Process:

Students normally apply for admission to the Honours program in their third year. The deadline for applications to the program is January 31 for students who wish to be enrolled in September of the following academic year. (If January 31 falls on a Saturday or Sunday, the application will be due the following Monday). However, should a student wish to apply after the normal review process has taken place for applications, their application may still be considered by the Department if it has the support of a potential supervisor.

Applications consist of a short letter to the Honours Coordinator with the following information:

- a short statement that you wish to apply to the program
- the name of the professor who has agreed in principle to supervise your Honours thesis and the historical subject you will be studying
- a copy of your degree progress report or unofficial transcript
- a completed Honours Checklist (see the back of this handbook)
- written approval of their proposed research topic from a potential supervisor.

(Note: approval of a proposed research topic does not imply acceptance into the Honours program).

2. Admission Requirements

- 2.1 The program is open to qualified History majors. Normally, students will be enrolled in their fourth or fifth semester when accepted into the program. Qualified students may also choose to apply to the program after completing the requirements of the - major.

- 2.2 The applicant must have an overall grade average of at least 75% in their previous University courses. Normally, the Department expects a minimum overall average of 80% in previous History courses.
 - 2.3 Spaces are limited and meeting the minimum entry requirements does not guarantee admission. Decisions on admission are made by the Department as a committee of the whole. Admission decisions will be made on the basis of demonstrated and potential ability to carry out independent research and sustained historical analysis.
 - 2.4 Graduates of the University of PEI with History majors may apply for admission to the program up to five years after graduation. They have five years to complete their Honours studies. UPEI graduates completing the program will be granted an Honours Conversion Certificate. Qualified graduates of other universities may apply to enrol in Honours courses and will receive normal credit and UPEI transcripts.
 - 2.5 Application for admission to the Honours program should be made in a letter to the Departmental Honours coordinator. Applications are normally submitted during the fourth or fifth semester.

3. Program Requirements

- 3.1 In addition to the courses required for the major, students are required to complete HIST 4970 and 4980. (Note: HIST 4970 & 4980 are in addition to the 9 semester hours of History courses at the 4000 level required for the Major)
- 3.2 Students must maintain an overall average of 75% in their university courses, and a minimum average of 80% in their History courses to remain in the program.
- 3.3 Students will prepare and defend in an oral examination a major research essay under the supervision of an Honours advisor from the History Department. This essay will be evaluated by a three-person committee, two members from within the Department and one member of which will be from outside the Department.
- 3.4 Students leaving the program because of grade averages falling below the required standard may apply for re-admission after one year and take courses to make up the deficiency.
- 3.5 Students intending to enter graduate programs should be aware that many MA and PhD programs require a reading knowledge of a second language. As a result, undergraduate courses in a second language are a useful preparation for graduate work in History.

4. Required Courses

History 4970 - Honours Tutorial in Historiography

History 4970 is an intensive reading and tutorial course in selected fields offered by the Department. Students should consult with their Honours supervisor in planning this course. The course normally centres on the historiography of the area in which the student's graduating essay is prepared.

Tutorial: Three hours per week

History 4980 – Honours Graduating Essay

Students will propose, research and write a major research essay under the supervision of an Honours advisor from the History Department. The essay will be the subject of a final oral examination. The oral examination committee consists of the Honours supervisor, one additional member from the Department of History, and a faculty member from another department of the University of Prince Edward Island.

Tutorial: Three semester hours of credit

5. Department Honours Regulations

5.1 Students must take 4970/4980 in sequence, preferably in consecutive semesters. The two summer sessions are regarded as one semester for this purpose.

5.2 The Honours advisor responsible for the supervision of the graduating essay will be chosen by the student, with the concurrence of the Department. The additional History Department member of the student's committee and the external reader will be chosen by the mutual agreement of the student and the Honours supervisor. Should the need arise to replace a member of the student's committee, the above procedure will be followed.

5.3 The graduating essay will be approximately 12,000 to 15,000 words in length. It must be printed on good quality paper, using letter-quality print, and free of grammatical, spelling or punctuation errors. The text must be double spaced, not exceed 25 lines of print per page, and have margins of at least 1". Please refer to the Chicago Manual of Style for further guidance. Revisions or corrections may be required after the final oral examination. It is the student's responsibility to produce a corrected copy for submission to the Robertson Library (speak with the Honours Coordinator for further information about this process).

5.4 No later than two weeks before the final oral examination, the student will ensure that four copies of the essay are given to the Honours supervisor. The supervisor will distribute these to the other two members of the committee and place one copy in the departmental office for members of the Department.

5.5 The oral examination will be held during the normal examination period at a time and place agreeable to the student and the faculty members of the Honours committee. Normally it should last about one hour, and provide the student an opportunity to outline the conclusions of the graduating essay to those present and to answer questions. The two departmental members and the external reader will grade the essay in camera following the oral examination, taking into consideration both the essay and the student's performance in the examination. The essay and the oral examination will be assigned a single numerical grade. This will be the grade for HIST 4980.

6. Honours Coordinator

6.1 The Honours Coordinator administers the day to day operations of the program in consultation with the Chair. The Coordinator is named by the Department for a three year term, renewable once.

6.2 The Coordinator advises students on all matters relating to the Honours program and keeps student records as necessary.
